

PRAVDA?

The Official(?) Newsletter of the KGB

Editor: Margaret Meyerhofer
(mmeyerho@andrew.cmu.edu)

Price: One Dalek Kitten
Volume 15, Issue 7 — 28 November, 2011

Congress Hears Report on Dangers of Typos by Dan Kirby Staff Writersh

WASHINGTON The US Department of Education released a report on Tuesday titled “A Nation at Crisis: How Proofreading and Bad Spelling Effect Our National Image.” Congress heard a report from Education Department spokesman Stanton Oxnam, “Just on my way here to the capital I saw at least two Quizno’s that were advertising their new ‘Black Anus’ sandwich. After that I walked over at least one manhole cover that read ‘Department of Public Woks’ AND I WAS NOT EVEN IN CHINATOWN! This is a problem, this is a serious problem, because our nation is being embarrassed publically” Local elementary educators had a similar point of view, local DC teacher Modesto Curameng had this to say: “Every time a newspaper reminds us to ‘set our cocks back for daylight savings time’ it sends a message to kids that its okay to misspell things, especially in hilarious ways. The real problem is websites like damnyouautocorrect.com, which glorify typing errors.” However, other education professionals we talked to had a somewhat different opinion, Dr. Benton Pecinously, a grammar Nazi at the University of South Jersey responded thusly “Waitdid you just call me a grammar Nazi? In a news article!?! Really guys” he went on to say “The real problem is students are no longer challenged mensturally. We have students coming into collage these days that cant even name the President of Ubekibekistanstan, I couldn’t care less about how well they can spell” The report received a negative reaction among House Republicans, who thought it was either a ploy to divert more federal money, that could be spent on new tanks, guns, and fighter jets, toward the Education department, or possibly an excuse to publish a bunch of typo jokes in a fake newspaper.

Otter by mmeyerho

Not a Kitty by mmeyerho

Not an Otter by mmeyerho

Wombat? by mmeyerho

Have you ever seen Australia and Europe in the same place at the same time? by mmeyerho

The omnipotent gods known as the internet have struck again! Facebook can tell you when two pictures are of the same person, and they have revealed many duplicitous fiends in our mist. The following sets of people are actually the same:

- Scorri, Micheala, Veronica, and Ethan
- rbenua and jpaulson
- Lo and Bubbles
- Dan and Tim Broman