

PRAVDA?

The Official(?) Newsletter of the KGB

Editor: Nicolas Keck
nkeck@andrew.cmu.edu

Price: Kevin's Now-ending Faith in Humanity
Volume 27, Issue 12 - November 20th, 2023

Exploring Kevin's House - A (sub)urban exploration

Kevin's house exudes a comfortable and welcoming atmosphere from the moment you approach it. Nestled in a quiet suburban neighborhood, the exterior of the house boasts a well-maintained garden with a variety of colorful flowers and neatly trimmed hedges. The lawn is immaculate, a testament to Kevin's pride in his home.

The house itself is a charming two-story structure with a mix of brick and siding, painted in warm, earthy tones that blend seamlessly with the natural surroundings. A well-crafted wooden door, adorned with a polished brass knocker, serves as the entrance to Kevin's abode. The well-polished lock gives way to your pick quickly, evidencing Kevin's poor lock selection skills.

Upon stepping inside, you are greeted by an inviting living room. The decor reflects Kevin's eclectic taste, combining modern and vintage elements. Comfortable, plush furniture surrounds a coffee table adorned with art books and a few carefully chosen decorative pieces. The walls are adorned with a collection of framed photographs, capturing moments from Kevin's life and travels.

As you ascend the staircase, you find yourself in a hallway adorned with framed artwork and family portraits. The bedrooms are tastefully decorated, each reflecting the personality of its

A highlight of Kevin's house is the cozy backyard, featuring a well-maintained patio with a barbecue grill and comfortable outdoor furniture. Lush greenery surrounds the area, providing a private oasis for OH SHIT HE WOKE UP. GET OUT! GET OUT! GET OUT!

[illegible]

The Official(?) Newsletter of the KGB

Price: your creative “juices”
Volume 27, Issue 10 - November 6th, 2023

Explain the joke: i love
it when jokes become buried in infinite layers

Potential for KGB reference?:
Comp Sci moment?

Start writing!:

this is a submission for ^{new} ~~the~~ provider